

Building Management System

Building Management Systems play a major role in all of our projects and in our company's philosophy when it comes to building automation processes.

Building Management Systems represent the center of any technical facility by being the communicating interface of monitoring and controlling its processes. For this reason, it is one of our core competences when it comes to building automation. In addition to providing building automation systems with classic devices like field and automation levels (bus-technology and LonWorks) within the project of building services, we are also experienced in planning neutral communication systems of BACnet standards, and OPC with Wonderware Intouch.
