

Integrated Planning

The best possible solution we can offer our clients is one in which our employees' ideas and creative skills converge to enrich the outcome of our project.

Working in teams together with our planning partners is a core characteristic of our company's philosophy. We follow our own set rules in the following areas:

- Using and integrating building material in our planning process in order to get the best climatic conditions
- Improving structures of buildings in the first phases of planning in order to optimize the media supply by reducing areas that require technology
- Considering demands of facility management within our planning process
